In July 1984, GAO sent to the CIA information derived during the GAO staff's study of other countries' export controls. CIA had asked for this information subsequent to a May 22, 1984, meeting with the GAO staff. CIA representatives at that meeting included STAT

The GAO staff understood that it would be given access to 10 country studies of export controls done by the CIA. To date, nothing has been received from the CIA. The GAO staff needs this information to help insure that all significant information and issues have been identified by its work.
